

Printing from OASIS is problematic from library workstations; you can obtain a printed schedule from the Registrar's office. If you want to try to print your schedule from OASIS, do the following.

- With your schedule displayed on the screen, left-click on the tiny icon immediately to the left of the text "oasis.vanderbilt.edu – PuTTY." This should bring up a drop-down menu. Select the option "Change Settings."
 - In the next window, click on "Terminal."
 - The display in the window will change, and at the bottom of the window there will be a section "Remote Controlled Printing." Under "Printer to send ANSI printer output to," click on the drop-down menu button and select "Public Printer."
 - Then click "Apply." This should close that window and return you to the OASIS window.
 - At the Command/Help prompt, type "PRINT." Your schedule should print at the network printer associated with that workstation.
