

Nancy Hendrix Collection
MSS 206
Processed January 2003

The Nancy Hendrix collection consists of one box, or .21 linear feet, of photocopied documents. Ms. Hendrix, a Vanderbilt alumnus (Masters Degrees 1967 and 1973; PhD 1974), was active in the establishment and development of the Nashville women's movement in the late 1960s and early 1970s.

Topics covered in the collection include articles and clipping on the national women's movement as well as other socio-political issues of the time period including southern history issues and the Vietnam War. Of particular interest in this collection is a series of papers published under the Southern Students Organizing Committee (SSOC) umbrella. Titles include "The New Nonviolence," "Deliberate Depopulation of Whole Areas: A Protest," and "Contemporary Forms of Imperialism."

Nancy Hendrix Index
MSS 206

Folder 1:

The folder contains materials relating to Nashville Women's Liberation Group (NWLG) and other socio-political activities.

Meeting announcement and directions for Nashville Women's Liberation Group,
March 17, 1969
Petition to the Nashville Tennessean, undated
Flyer for Spring Peace Offensive, April and May 1971
Response sheet for NWLG
List of women involved in NWLG, undated
Essay entitled "Female Liberation as the Basis for Social Revolution," by Roxanne Dunbar, undated
Women's Network newsletter, Vol. I, No. 2, November 1976
Promotional flyer for National Council of Negro Women, Inc.'s Black Women's Unity Drive, c. early 1970s
Copies of index cards with names and addresses of NWLG participants (7 pages)

Folder 2:

Misc. clippings including coverage of the August 26, 1970 women's movement nationwide strike and demonstration

"U.S. Feminists Witches, Says Czech Paper," from The Nashville Tennessean, August 24, 1970
"Lib Woes Outweigh Good, Panel Told" from The Nashville Tennessean, Sept. 10, 1970
Photo with outline titled "Contradiction of Terms," from *The Nashville
Tennessean*, August 27, 1970
"Women Find Men's Side Pays Price" from The Nashville Tennessean,
date unknown
Photo with outline, 'Support Women's Lib, August 28, 1970
Resolution signed by Stephen Cobb, President of the Davidson County Young Democratic Club
"Women Set to Strike Wednesday," dateline New York, date unknown
"N. O. Men Have Come a Long Way, Baby," dateline New Orleans,
date unknown
"Women's Lib – To Be or Not To Be," The Nashville Tennessean,
August 28, 1970
"China's Liberated Women Aren't Quite Equal," The Nashville Tennessean,
Feb. 20, 1972, by Caroline Benn
Photo with outline, "Welcome Sign to Liberation" date unknown

