Biography/History

Eugene Epperson Barnett was born in 1888 in Leesburg, Florida. He received a B.A. from Emory University in 1907; post-graduate study in the School of Religion at Vanderbilt University, 1907-1908; and received Honorary Degree of LL.D., from Emory University in 1944, and University of North Carolina in 1946.

He was the General Secretary of the National Council of YMCA’s from 1908-1910. He continued his work with the International Committee of the YMCA. From 1910-1936 he worked in China. While in China, he observed many religious and political changes including the downfall of Chiang Kai-Shek and the resurgence of Communism. After leaving China, he continued to work for the YMCA until his retirement in 1953. He traveled extensively before and after retirement. He died in 1970.

The autobiographical manuscript written by Eugene E. Barnett gives detailed information on his family background (the Barnett and Epperson Families), his boyhood, his college years with his involvement with the YMCA, the lives of his family both at home and abroad, and his many experiences. The memoir covers in great detail the following subjects:

Physical descriptions of Shanghai and Hangchow
YMCA work in Hangchow
Boxer Rebellion
Collapse of Ch’ing Dynasty
Economic Depression
Cultural Life in China
Anti-American Sentiment
World War I
Japanese Invasion of Manchuria
Siege of Shanghai by Japanese Forces
Marxism
Communism
USSR (Soviet Union)

Although intended to be a three-chapter autobiographical manuscript, the last chapter was not written.
Scope and Contents

This .21 linear feet collection contains correspondence, vita, book review, and an 304-page typescript autobiographical manuscript. The manuscript is divided into 20 sections and has been put in file folders by section number.

Correspondence – Outgoing

July 4, 1967 – to Woodrow W. Wasson

Correspondence – Incoming

December 6, 1966 – from Sherman P. Carter

Book Review

Prophet of Plenty: The First Ninety Years of W. D. Weatherford
by Wilma Dykeman, University of Tennessee Press, 1966

Manuscript

As I Look Back: Recollections of Growing up in America’s Southland and of Twenty-Six years in Pre-Communist China, 1888-1936

Section I  Preview  1-6
Section II  Forebears  7-22
Section III  Boyhood  23-37
Section IV  College and University  38-49
Section V  Choosing and Starting My Life Work  50-64
Section VI  Taking Off  65-77
Section VII  Heaven Below  78-86
Section VIII  Preparing for Action  87-101
Section IX  Our First Term in Hangchow  102-121
Section X  To the U.S.A. and Back  122-136
Section XI  Hangchow “Mission Accomplished”  137-155
Section XII  Hangchow Postscript  156-169
Section XIII  Changing Gear—Shifting Winds  170-185
Section XIV  How to Spend a Furlough  186-199
Section XV  Into Heavy Weather  200-221
Section XVI  How Chinese Communism Looked
To me during its Salad Years  222-240
BARNETT, EUGENE E.

Page 3

Section XVII  More Stresses and Strains  241-261
Section XVIII  On the China Home Stretch (A)  262-278
Section XIX  On the China Home Stretch (B)  279-293
Section XX  On the China Home Stretch (C)  294-304
Footnote  304
Addendum to Closing Three Chapters  305-346
[chapter not written]

Vita

Dated January 18, 1960